

EBND

State Street SPDR Bloomberg Emerging Markets Local Bond ETF Analyst Report

This ETF offers exposure to debt of emerging markets issuers that is denominated in local currencies, making it a potentially attractive option for investors interested in diversifying fixed income exposure beyond U.S. borders. This asset class can be valuable both as a hedge against the U.S. dollar and as a means for enhancing current returns in low interest rate environments. Unlike EMB and PCY, this ETF focuses on debt denominated in the currency of the issuers, EBND is slightly cheaper than the actively-managed ELD, and offers impressive depth of holdings as well.
