

FLAU

Franklin FTSE Australia ETF

Analyst Report

The Franklin FTSE Australia ETF (FLAU) tracks an index of small and mid-size companies in Australia, and for a very reasonable price. As of June 2020, FLCH's management fee is a fraction of the price of the iShares MSCI Australia ETF (EWA), though the Franklin fund continues to trail its iShares rival in size and liquidity. FLAU has a deeper portfolio than EWA, and a larger allocation to small- and mid-cap stocks. The funds have broadly similar sector exposure, with some variations.

The fund is part of a series of single-country ETFs that Franklin Templeton began rolling out in 2017. The funds debuted with significantly lower management fees than rival iShares funds, which have long dominated the single-country ETF space. Many of the stocks in the fund's portfolio are likely to be found in regional ETFs as well as emerging- and developed-market funds, and investors should be careful not to take on an unintentional overweight. Single-country funds are typically not appropriate for investors seeking a diversified portfolio and are more appealing to short-term traders placing tactical bets on specific markets.
