

BFTR

Future Innovators ETF

Fund Description

The BlackRock Future Innovators ETF (the Fund) seeks long-term capital appreciation.

FactSet Analyst Report

BFTR is an actively managed portfolio of small- and midcap growth companies from around the world that have introduced, or are seeking to introduce, a new product or service that potentially changes the marketplace in which it operates. Security selection is based on the fund advisors own research and analysis of companies that capitalize on innovation or enabling the further development of innovation within their respective industries. The fund may invest in IPOs. In addition, up to 25% of the portfolio may be held in foreign, non-USD denominated, securities. During temporary defensive periods, the fund may invest up to 100% of its assets in liquid, short-term investments.
