

BIDD

iShares International Dividend Active ETF

Fund Description

BIDD is an actively managed ETF that invests in companies outside the US that are identified to pay attractive and growing dividends.

FactSet Analyst Report

BIDD aims for long-term total return and current income by investing in dividend-paying equity securities issued by companies outside the US. Utilizing fundamental research, the fund primarily invests in equity securities that derive at least 50% of revenues, profits, sales, or have assets outside the United States. The fund invests in securities from various regions and at least three countries, including those from emerging markets. Securities can be USD- or non-USD-based or of any market capitalization with a bias towards large-cap securities. The fund may invest up to 20% in global fixed income securities or derivatives. BIDD is Blackrocks first active mutual fund to convert to an actively managed ETF structure on Nov. 19, 2024, starting with assets amounting to $755.9 million. Prior to February 19, 2025, the fund name was BlackRock International Dividend ETF.