

BKES

BNY Mellon Sustainable Global Emerging Markets ETF

Fund Description

BKES actively selects stocks of emerging market companies based on attractive investment attributes and sustainable business practices.

FactSet Analyst Report

BKES is an actively managed fund of emerging market equities that exhibit strong investment characteristics and engage in satisfactory ESG practices. Only countries represented in the MSCI EM Index are eligible for inclusion. The fund employs a qualitative and quantitative fundamental analysis to seek attractively-priced companies with good products or services, strong management and strategic direction that have adopted a sustainable business approach. This, combined with a proprietary ESG quality review, make up the selection process of the fund. The adviser will continuously monitor companies held in the fund's portfolio through extensive research and interaction between the fund manager and the company's management.
