

CGGG

Capital Group U.S. Large Growth ETF

Fund Description

CGGG is actively managed, seeking capital appreciation through investments in US equities. It specifically targets large-cap growth companies with durable competitive advantages.

FactSet Analyst Report

CGGG uses a growth investing approach, concentrating on the large-cap segment of the US equity market. It targets high-growth stocks with capital appreciation potential and are positioned to benefit from innovation, economic growth, or increasing consumer demand. The fund's approach looks for securities included in the Russell 1000 Growth Index, with market capitalizations falling within the Russell 1000s. It also selects stocks based on their growth potential and historical or projected revenue or earnings. The fund is actively managed and utilizes a multi-manager system wherein the portfolio is divided into several individually managed segments. The fund launched alongside its sister fund, CGVV, concentrating on large-cap value companies.