Opal Dividend Income ETF

Fund Description

DIVZ holds an actively-managed, concentrated portfolio of US-listed companies that are favorably valued and have attractive dividends. The fund also seeks to deliver lower volatility than the overall market.

FactSet Analyst Report

DIVZ aims to curate a portfolio that is less volatile and has higher dividend yield than the S&P 500. The fund adviser initially screens US-listed securities for sustainable dividend growth using various quantitative and qualitative indicators. Then high-quality companies are identified based on high cash flow, stable revenue streams and capital reinvestment programs. This process is expected to deliver lower volatility than the overall US equity market. Finally, the fund adviser selects securities trading at attractive valuations. The actively-managed funds methodology results in a narrow selection of 25-35 stocks. Prior to February 20, 2024, the fund traded under the name TrueShares Low Volatility Equity Income ETF.
