Hartford Strategic Income ETF

Fund Description

HSFI is an actively managed ETF that provides broad exposure to debt securities from around the world, including emerging markets.

FactSet Analyst Report

HFSI invests in debt securities deemed attractive from a yield perspective while considering total return. The fund invests in junk bonds and highly rated debt securities, stretching across multiple sectors from anywhere in the world, including emerging markets. The portfolio may include corporate and government bonds, bank loans, or loan participation interests in secured, second lien or unsecured variable, fixed or floating rate loans, and securitized debt (e.g., mortgage-related and asset-backed securities, including CLOs). The fund may use derivatives to manage portfolio risk. As an actively managed fund, HSUN can analyze market and financial data to make buy, sell, and hold decisions at their discretion. Prior to Sep. 30, 2024, the fund was called Hartford Sustainable Income ETF. Prior to April 15, 2025, the fund traded under the ticker HSUN.
