FactSet Analyst Report

HOOY aims to generate monthly income while providing exposure to the price returns of the Robinhood stock (HOOD), subject to a cap on potential gains. The fund utilizes a synthetic covered call strategy via standardized exchange-traded and FLEX options, which consists of three elements: i) synthetic long exposure, ii) covered call writing, and iii) US Treasurys for collateral. The synthetic long exposure seeks to replicate the price movements of HOOD by purchasing and selling at-the-money calls and puts that have one- to six-month terms. To generate income, the fund writes call options with an expiration of one month or less and a strike price of approximately 0%-15% above HOOD's current share price. This limits participation in potential gains if HOOD shares increase in value. The short put positions fully expose investors to the downside of the stock. Note: the fund does not invest directly in HOOD stocks. Thus, investors are not entitled to any HOOD dividends.
