

HSUN

Hartford Sustainable Income ETF

Fund Description

HSUN is actively managed to provide broad exposure to debt securities that meet certain sustainable investing criteria with attractive yields.

FactSet Analyst Report

HSUN invests in debt securities deemed attractive from a yield perspective while considering total return. The fund holds corporate and government bonds of any credit quality or maturity stretching across multiple sectors from anywhere in the world. Also using an internally developed sustainability framework in selecting investments, the fund identifies issuers perceived to demonstrate a commitment to sustainable practices, which include those with positive ESG characteristics and efforts, social and/or environmental impacts, and low carbon footprint. As an actively managed fund, HSUN can analyze market and financial data to make buy, sell, and hold decisions at their discretion.
