

IGRO

iShares International Dividend Growth ETF

Fund Description

IGRO tracks an index of international equities that have growing dividends.

FactSet Analyst Report

IGRO provides exposure to the top 97% of market capitalization in developed and emerging markets excluding the US. IGRO focuses the potential for dividend increases rather than high current dividend yield. It tracks an index of international equities that have been increasing dividends for at least five years, but are still paying out less than 75% of earnings. Selected equities should not already be a top dividend payer (top 10% of equities within the selection universe by trailing twelve-month dividend yield) as they are expected to have room for further growth. The index undergoes quarterly rebalance and semi-annual reconstitution. IGRO's sibling fund DGRO provides US exposure.
