Fund Description

SDGA tracks an index of global stocks that rank highly for societal development and ESG metrics.

FactSet Analyst Report

SDGA assesses the universe of global large- and midcap stocks according to social investment criteria developed by the UN Capital Development Fund. These 32 metrics dealing with company policies and practices regarding business ethics, employment practices, contractor & supply chain monitoring, community involvement, and financial inclusion are used to create a societal development score for each eligible firm. In addition, firms must have a minimum amount of business exposure to UN-designated Least Developed Countries. SDGA excludes companies involved in serious business controversies or certain controversial industries, or that do not meet a minimum ESG score. The funds index uses an optimizer to select 200 stocks that rank highly for the societal development score.
