

SRET

Global X SuperDividend REIT ETF

Fund Description

SRET tracks an equal-weighted index of REITs from around the world. The fund selects 30 companies the issuer determines to have the highest yield and lowest volatility.

FactSet Analyst Report

SRET is part of a suite of income-producing ETFs from the issuer, called SuperDividend, that focuses on providing income from various types of securities. This fund tracks an index of 30 REITS from both developed and emerging countries. From a starting universe of real estate investment trusts ranked by dividend yield, the top 60 companies are considered. The fund selects the top 30 securities with the lowest 90-day volatility. During the quarterly review, REITs are assessed based on dividend cuts or the company's dividend policy outlook. The fund may engage in securities lending. The index is rebalanced quarterly, assigning each stock with equal weights.
