

VDV

Vanguard Developed Markets ex-US Value Index ETF

Fund Description

VDV tracks a market-cap-weighted index of developed market equities outside the United States with a tilt toward value stocks. The strategy provides large- and mid-cap international developed markets exposure excluding US companies.

FactSet Analyst Report

VDV provides passive exposure to value-oriented companies across developed markets outside the United States. The fund tracks an index of large- and mid-cap stocks classified as value names and weights holdings by float-adjusted market capitalization, resulting in larger positions in the biggest companies within the eligible universe. The strategy can offer international diversification while emphasizing businesses trading at lower valuations relative to growth-oriented peers. It may appeal to those seeking developed ex-US equity exposure with a value style tilt.